

Construct systems first; measure remaining uncertainty after calibration.

